

Young Inspection carried out 8th November 2023

The Young Inspectors are Sam, Steven and Glenn at the Mary Rose Museum, Old Portsmouth

They answered questions and discussed their answers in 5 different areas

- The information prior to visiting available on the website
- Accessibility
- Staff
- Safety and Surroundings
- Fun and Enjoyment

All areas were scored out of 10 stars and there was an overall score for the experience.

WEBSITE

Steven, Sam and Glenn all researched the internet prior to our visit.

They were all able to find The Mary Rose Museum easily on the internet.

Sam said it was quite good, while Steven thought it was not easy to work with and had too many links. Not very colourful and looked a bit boring.

Glenn thought more pictures of The Mary Rose would be good and make it more colourful and inviting.

Steven, Sam and Glenn awarded

7/10

ACCESSIBILITY

Steven thought initially the entrance was not very disabled friendly as the sign was covered, but once inside saw how accessible the whole building was for wheelchair users.

All thought the lifts were big and spacious with a splendid view of the Mary Rose. The only problem was we were unable to call the lift from the top floor and we had to walk to the bottom.

All the signs and display were very well presented and easily understood by the group.

Steven, Sam and Glenn awarded

10/10 stars

STAFF

Sam said all the staff were truly kind and all the group said how helpful, friendly, and knowledgeable everyone was.

Steven, Sam and Glenn awarded

10/10 stars

SAFETY AND SURROUNDINGS AND FRONT ENTRANCE TO DOCKYARD

On our arrival from the bus stop at the Hard, Glenn was extremely impressed with the Warrior ship and the walk to the Dockyard was quite a short walk. Steven said it would be better to have the large double doors open as they look more inviting, doesn't quite grab you with the smaller door and is not very visible to tourists. Both Glenn and Sam agreed with this. Said the security at the gate was good and they checked their bags. Exiting was a bit slow, and we had to wait in the rain while a larger group were getting checked in.

Steven, Glenn and Sam awarded

10/10 Stars

FUN AND ENJOYMENT

Sam, Glenn and Steven all really enjoyed their visit. They all used the interactive display screens and touchscreens and thoroughly enjoyed the 4D experience saying they would defiantly go again and recommend a visit to friends and family.

Sam, Glenn and Sam awarded

10/10 Stars
